The Christmas Spirit and the World

IN SPITE of overhanging clouds, this is the "merriest"

Christmas Canadians have had for three years. On the war fronts abroad, and on the political front at home, the horizon is brighter. There will be many disappointments and many fierce battles on both fronts, but this Christmas there seems more chance of a Victory worth dying for, — more chance of a Peace worth living.

If the "Christmas Spirit" could be with all of us, in all countries, at all times, there would be no wars, and no man made injustices in our social and economic life.

This terrible war had to be fought, because the Christmas Spirit was not universal. But we can fight it vigorously and yet keep that Spirit in our hearts, and in most of our actions. We can keep the flame alive, we can follow it as the practical ideal of our lives, we can do missionary work among friends now, and among enemies later, to bring the world closer to a warless world of love.

Tens of thousands of readers will share this writer's memory of twenty five years ago. Crouching in a filthy trench, peering over the parapet, seeing a darkly-outlined caricature of the land we loved, a vista of rusted wire, shell churned mud, dead, splintered trees, and crumbling walls.

And behind it, silhouetting all the black misery a horizon glowing with the flame of a new dawn.

That is the flame which all of us must foster, — the Spirit of Christmas.

CHINOOK SCHOOL CONCERT

The Annual Chinook School concert was held Wednesday evening, December 23. The school Hall was filled to capacity with many persons standing.

The weather was good which meant so much to those who came in from the country.

We think we are safe in saying the program was the best ever put on by the Chinook School.

The teachers deserve great credit for a concert which must have entailed much work. The costumes which were made by the teachers were excellent. The painting of the scenery deserves special mention, which was done by Mr. Charyk. Mrs. Fargett was pianist.

The program was as follows: Patriotic number, Intermediate room.

1. Recitation, Patsy Gallagher and Lorne Robinson

2. "Joy To The World", Intermediate room.

3. Boat Scene, Betty and Jean Zawasky.

4. Play, "Trouble in Santa Claus Land", Principal Primary room

5. Negro Action Song, Intermediate room.

6. Pre School Party, Patsy Peyton, Ina Bangs, and Donna Coley.

The War In 1942

AT THE CLOSE of the year 1942 we may look back with pride on the part that Canada has played in the momentous events of the past twelve months. During that period Canadian troops fought the Germans for the first time, and their heroic conduct at Dieppe won admiration and confidence throughout the United Nations. Canadian sailors and airmen have fought in many parts of the world in the past year and they have taken an important part in the growing allied offensive. At home, production of war materials has reached levels which were undreamed of at the beginning of the war. The output of war materials is today three times what it was a year ago, and Canada is now the third largest arsenal among the United Nations. At the outbreak of the war Canada had the capacity for making only a small amount of military supplies, but now what we produce maintains not only the hundreds of thousands of men in our own armed forces, but is sufficient to allow large quantities to be sent to our Allies. Over half the machinery in Canada today is being used to produce war materials, and we may be justly proud of this ever-increasing flow of supplies coming from our war industries.

Inflation Has Been Avoided

The average Canadian citizen doubtless feels that considering that we are in the midst of the greatest struggle in history, we in Canada have had much more to be thankful during the past year. Inflation which is one of the greatest evils of war, and this has been successfully avoided here, through the control of prices and salaries. This system of control has brought about some hardships and inconvenience but these have been small, indeed, compared to the consequences of inflation. Taxes are heavy, but the taxes this year have covered one half of the country's expenditure on the war. The other half has been covered by war savings. If we can continue in this manner, there will be no staggering war debt to encumber us in the post-war period. At the beginning of hostilities, Canada's financial position was sound, and it has continued so in spite of the strain placed upon it by the financing of the war. Of the eight billion dollars, which is now Canada's national income, much was made available to the government in war savings in 1942. In this, as in every other phase of the war effort, we must maintain and if possible increase our contribution.

Turning Point May Have Come

It is possible that when the history of this war is written it will be said that the year 1942 marked the turning of the tide of battle in favor of the United Nations. During this year the full strength of Allied production has been reached, and for the first time it has been possible for them to send fully equipped forces into the field, and to keep them supplied. The Allied air forces have carried out devastating attacks on enemy countries, and we have seen our air forces grow day by day in numbers and in strength. At sea, our losses have decreased somewhat, and our rate of replacement of ships has increased enormously. Thus the United Nations have been able to maintain supply routes with increasing success. We have seen General Rommel's army put to flight in Libya; the Allied successes in West Africa and in the Pacific. Russia and China have held firm and they remain powerful and determined Allies. We have had reverses, and Mr. Churchill has told us that there will be others. But there are definite signs that the past year has marked a change for the better in the situation of the United Nations, and we can look with hope and confidence to the beginning of a new year.

AT WAR FOR 28 YEARS
The Isle of Man has been at war with Germany for 28 years! The Manx Government declared war in 1914—but were never invited to Versailles, and therefore did not sign the peace. So no new declaration was needed in 1939!

FACTORY PADRES
Factory Padres are becoming more and more numerous, and it seems likely that they have come to stay—one's eyes open, a normal person could not continue in that condition and there's no evidence that any one could train himself to sleep with his eyes open.

LUCIEN ROY

Crash of an Air Force plane on the west coast brought an untimely end to one of the best-known motion picture cameramen in Canada. He is Lucien Roy, 38, who met his death on a news assignment, covering activities of Western Air Command. Roy has filmed the news in all parts of Canada for Associated Screen News Limited, Montreal, with whom he was rounding out 20 years of service. His zest for life and jovial manner made him friends in every province of the Dominion, from prime ministers to porters. His lenses have covered events of national importance, and leading personalities of Canada for 15 years.

Art Publication

Germans Publish A Book On England, The Robber Pirate

Among the emergency rations carried in a German rubber dinghy recovered recently was a packet of cigarettes. Inside were some coupons, and an intimation that if the smoker saved 50 double coupons in numerical sequence, and repeated it with four different series, he could, for the price of one mark receive a copy of an "Art Publication" entitled "England—The Robber Pirate."

The wrecked German airman was assured: "This highly vivid work gives us a penetrating insight into the questionable methods which England has employed since time immemorial to establish and expand its position as a world power. The text, and 125 historical pictorial documents—most of them published for the first time—reveal with all clarity the true character of our 'cousins across the channel.'"

If this subject makes no appeal, there are alternative offers. The smoker can apply for an art album dealing with architecture, or if that proves distasteful, he must fall back on a pamphlet dealing with the life of the Fuehrer! — Argus, Brighton, England.

CANNOT BE DONE

The best medical opinion is that while it's possible to fall asleep with one's eyes open, a normal person could not continue in that condition and there's no evidence that any one could train himself to sleep with his eyes open.

The period of fine weather in the autumn, known in Canada as "Indian summer" is called St. Martin's summer in England.

So there really is a butter shortage! The figures recently released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics clear up all those rumours about being a phony shortage, due to panic buying and wicked wholesalers waiting for the price to rise. The cold facts are that Canadians are eating more butter than they did last year, so that although production has been maintained at the previous level, we have now much less in storage than we had this time last year.

That means that all of us have got to eat less butter, if we are to avoid the extremely cumbersome and expensive alternative of rationing. This is not the nutritional disaster you may suppose. The fact is that there are other and cheaper ways of getting the two chief food essentials supplied by butter. These essentials are fat and Vitamin A. A great many people would be a lot better off if they ate less fat, so that's no loss. Those who need this high energy food can get it by eating the fat part of meats, and of course all meat contains a certain amount of fat throughout. Were butter the only source of Vitamin A, a reduction in butter consumption would be really serious, for too little of this important vitamin in our diet leads to night blindness, lessened resistance to infection—hence more coughs and colds—and in extreme cases to a serious eye disease, xerophthalmia. But butter is only a fair source of A. Cheaper and better sources are the green leaf and yellow vegetables, spinach, broccoli, beet greens, carrots, sweet potatoes, squash. And you will be glad to know, Vitamin A is not a temperamental vitamin and survives even imperfect cooking very nicely. Other excellent food sources are liver and cod-liver oil. These cannot be considered cheap substitutes for butter but if you eat liver occasionally and take cod-liver oil regularly, you're getting more Vitamin A than even excessive use of butter could supply.

One thing to remember—if your chief source of A is to be the green leaf and yellow vegetables, don't use mineral oil either medicinally or as a salad dressing base. Carotene, the form in which Vitamin A occurs in vegetables, is fat soluble. Mineral oil will dissolve carotene out of vegetables eaten and since mineral oil itself is not assimilated the carotene also will be lost. One last word—children need more fat than adults. If butter is scarce let the little have most of it. A post card request sent to the Western Division, Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, will bring you a free copy of an up-to-date and authoritative Vitamin Chart.

NEWS of your Army

From Directorate of Public Relations Army

(By Lieut. Seth Halton)
Officers and men from every fighting branch of the Canadian Army are living and training together as members of the First Canadian Parachute Battalion, headquartered at Fort Benning, Ga., according to Lieut.-Col. G. F. P. Bradbrooke of Regina and Saskatoon, who commands the unit. The Canadians formed around a small nucleus who went to Benning to train at the Parachute School last July, have among them Commandos, rugged French Canadians and even killies from Scottish regiments. They are volunteers who have already had basic training and some of them have the experience, as Captain D. J. Wilkins of Toronto, a Dieppe veteran. Though the Canadians will qualify as jumpers according to American methods some have already qualified by British standards, so that incorporations from both systems will be used. On their left breasts Canadian paratroopers will wear white wings mounted on a background of dark green. The insignia was designed by the late Major H. D. Proctor of Ottawa, Commanding Officer of the earlier Canadian contingent, and Major R. F. Routh.

Nine Canadian soldiers, battle-tested veterans of Dieppe, were among the 68 servicemen who came smartly to attention before His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada in a recent investiture at Government House in Ottawa. To one, company commander Major George Gouk, of Winnipeg, the recognition of his heroism was nothing new. He won the Military Medal in the first Great War, The Distinguished Conduct Medal this time for his work in protecting his company's withdrawal in the famous raid. Cpl. Joe Leduc, who came from Swift Current, Sask., for the first investiture to be held in Canada during this war, won his Military Medal for sniping, an art he first mastered in France 25 years ago. He was met in Ottawa by his sister, Pte. Isabeau Leduc, who is in the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

More than a hundred black-belted cadets, some fresh from civvies and some trained soldiers, are now taking officers' training at Camp Borden, Ontario. The officers' class, located in Camp Borden as a temporary measure, has in it lawyers, teachers, and even a Ph. D. In a few months they will have new jobs as members of the Canadian Armoured Corps, similar to the British tankmen whose valor in the Western Desert has won them a thousand times their designation as a Corps d'élite. During their three-month course candidates will study map reading, military law, organization and administration, learn something about gas warfare, rifle and machine gun fighting, and receive strenuous conditioning for battles to come.

At the same time they get the rudiments of armoured corps training center for an intensive course in tank warfare—three months of this, then it's Hitler, here we come!

Officials at National Defence headquarters name the following poem as one of the soldiers' greatest laments. It was written by a Canadian overseas:

I dropped around this morning to see
If there was any mail for me.
There were letters and parcels all around
But not a bit for me I found.
Dear Mother and Dad—and you,
my pet—
I didn't think that you'd forget.

The poor old Queen of Battle, the infantry, has been raised to a new official status with announcement by the Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, that the Corps of Infantry will be formed for the Canadian Army. In practice, it was explained by Major-General Leson, the Adjutant-General, regimental titles and integrity will be maintained, but officers will be accepted into the Corps and sent to the unit of their choice if circumstances permit. Officers and men will thus receive more uniform training and Corps spirit will grow. . . . Lieut.-General Kenneth Stuart, Chief of the General Staff, explained after the announcement that the days of the foot-sloggy infantry are gone. The infantry is motorized and has a punch far beyond anything ever conceived before, he remarked.

Bank Executives Support Wartime Taxes, Prices and Trade Controls

Huntly R. Drummond, Bank of Montreal President, Suggests That High Taxation and Controls Are Justified for Duration Only — Sees Need for Freedom of Enterprise With Return of Peace

G. W. Spinney, General Manager, Reviews Bank's 125th Year—Discusses War Finance—Says Government Financing Through Chartered Banks Being Kept Within Reasonable and Manageable Proportions

Efforts by the Government to prevent the effects of inflation as experienced in the aftermath of the last war—including price and wage controls and pay-as-we-go taxation—were commended by Huntly R. Drummond, President of the Bank of Montreal, at that institution's 125th annual meeting. Such efforts, he said, "merited the support of every Canadian citizen." At the same time he urged, as he did at the annual meeting a year ago, that the government regulations be removed with all possible speed after the war so that private enterprise might have the opportunity to convert war factories to the production of peace-time goods.

Wide expansion in industrial production having been financed by taxation and borrowing, under government direction and control, with the government guaranteeing the overhead and providing the market for the output, he emphasized that "these conditions will not, and cannot, obtain after the war."

Describing the income tax, company and individual combined, as "probably the highest in the Allied Nations", and covering practically every individual, the president said he had been "pleased to observe the cheerful acceptance of hardship by all Canadians" had been notable and was an encouraging sign for the future. In this connection, however, he pointed out that "we have gone a long way toward sacrificing everything but liberty itself."

Bank Earnings Restricted

During the year the bank's assets and deposits reached new high levels; the average assets were $1,091 million compared with $1,022 million in the preceding year, while deposits—the safety of which "is our first concern"—increased to $1,084,646,000. Earnings showed a small increase, but taxes at $2,540,000 were considerably higher, because of government's policy of restricting net earnings to 70% of pre-war standard profits. The incidence of this increase was felt only in the last four months of the fiscal year, he explained, and warned that taxes for the coming year would be sharply higher.

Dealing further with the bank's position, he said that this year even the government's policy of assets was represented by short-term and immediately realizable investments, which placed the bank in a stronger position than ever before. However, the earning power of all banks had been reduced by such investments, higher taxes and the government's policy of keeping interest rates low—"which we commend".

At the same time he gave credit to the banks in supporting to the come. In their last month they get the rudiments of armoured corps training center for an intensive course in tank warfare—three months of this, then it's Hitler, here we come!

Officials at National Defence headquarters name the following poem as one of the soldiers' greatest laments. It was written by a Canadian overseas:

full the Government in its stupendous task of financing the war, observing: "We can fairly claim that in Canada our banking system has more than justified its existence, and, with irrefutable facts, that in Canada the role of the State taking over the banks'."

General Manager's Review

G. W. Spinney, general manager, reviewed, in his address to the meeting, the accounts of the bank for the year and referred to its increase in total assets to $1,175,310,000 from $1,046,551,000 at the end of the previous fiscal period. Total assets in deposit form amounted to $886,935,000 and were equivalent to 81.05 per cent. of all liabilities to the bank.

He referred to the reduction in current loans during the year and the wide expansion in investments. In this connection he said: "The increase in investments is mainly under the heading of Dominion of Canada Securities, which have been devised to provide flexible short-term financing for the Dominion Government, and are similar to Treasury Deposit Receipts used in Great Britain during the War of 1914-18 and reintroduced by the British Treasury at the beginning of July 1940."

"During the year ended October 31, said Mr. Spinney, "new and refunding issues of the Dominion Government, exclusive of Treasury Bill financing but adjusted to include Canada securities, amounted to $1,000,000,000, which was issued in the latter part of October and the early part of November, aggregated approximately $3,650,000,000. This figure includes $145,000,000 of the new Dominion of Canada 4 1/2 per cent. Treasury Bills, which were issued from July to October, some of which have since been retired. In Canada securities the Dominion Government's heavy borrowing requirements, I feel that the amount of war financing through the Dominion Government has been kept within reasonable and manageable proportions. The extent to which this type of borrowing can be kept in check will depend largely upon the success of the public distribution from time to time of Government loan allocations."

Closing of Branches

The general manager spoke of the necessary closing down of branches in keeping with the war policy of the Government, but stated that care is being exercised to see that no area is left without adequate facilities. The policy followed has been to close down branches where overlapping exists, and to keep the remaining branches in the staff of the bank on the manner in which it had undertaken added duties and thanked the customers for accepting cheerfully any unavoidable relaxation in service.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

PROCRASTINATING

It is an undoubted truth, that the less one has to do; the less time one finds to do it in. One yawns, one procrastinates, one can do it when one will, and therefore one seldom does it at all.—Lord Chesterfield.

Cease to inquire what the future has in store, and take as a gift what ever the day brings forth.—Horace.

We always have time enough, if we will but use it aright.—Goethe.

A great amount of time is consumed in talking nothing, doing nothing, and indecision as to what one should do.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Tomorrow is the ambushed walk avoided by the circuspet. Tomorrow is the fatal rock on which a million ships are wrecked.—Walt Mason.

We sleep, but the loom of life never stops, and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up the morning.—Henry Ward Beecher.

CHURCH FOR EXILES

Exiles from Norway living, or visiting, in Halifax will now have a church of their own. In an impressive ceremony, one of the best-known old-time Halifax homes was taken over by the Norwegians as a place of worship.

SAVED SHIPMATE

An iron lung made from wood, canvas and scrap metal by a cruiser's shipwrights and engineroom artificers saved the life of a naval rating when the ship was taken to port. Shipmates pumped the "lung" by hand for two days and two nights.

Brown coupons, Nos. 1 to 11 "Spare 'C'" can be used for the purchase of butter.

Each coupon becomes good on a definite date and expires on a definite date... and can be used only within its prescribed period, as given below.

The system for butter is different from that applying to Sugar, Coffee and Tea, where coupons have no specified expiry date.

Dates When Butter Coupons Become Useable—and Expire

Coupon Number	Good for Purchase beginning on	Not Good for Purchase After
1	December 21	January 3
2	December 28	January 3

Coupons for butter, like those for Sugar, Coffee and Tea (the red and green coupons) must be detached by, or in the presence of any seller of butter or his employee. If desired, consumers may lodge their butter coupon sheets with their retailers, so that the latter may detach the required coupons when delivering.

Temporary Ration Cards

They must forward with their reports the number of butter coupons representing their butter holdings. If the quantity of butter in possession of such persons represents more than the eleven brown coupons in Ration Book No. 1, which will be good for butter, they must in their reports undertake to detach from future ration books, additional butter coupons equal to the remainder of the surplus.

Special Notice to Retailers

On and after December 28, retailers must establish their right to purchase new supplies of butter from their suppliers by turning over to the supplier currently valid ration coupons equivalent to the poundage of butter ordered from the suppliers.
